Husky to Husky Peer Educator Job Position

Husky to Husky is a peer education group focused on educating the Northeastern community on a range of wellness topics including: mental health, stress, alcohol education and sexual health. The Husky to Husky peer educators work to bridge the gap between students and services with the goal of increasing access and availability. Peer educators work as part of the Office of Prevention and Education at Northeastern (OPEN) and partner on OPEN related projects, programs and initiatives.

Number of Openings: 2

Time Commitment: 5 hours/week

Job Description:

- Presenting to students and student groups on mental health, alcohol toxicity and other wellness topics.
- Organizing, planning and facilitating tabling events and programs
- Creating and implementing messaging, promotional materials and social media posts for the program
- Helping with office initiatives (ie. Frisky Husky packaging, focus groups, and Northeastern-wide events on wellness)
- Attending weekly team meeting (Time TBD by members schedules)
- Staying up to date on email communication and required trainings

Job Requirements:

- Must be at least a second year student in the undergraduate program
- Must be passionate about the Northeastern community and topics related to health and wellness
- Must be extremely organized and reliable
- Must be able to work independently and have good leadership skills
- Must have a flexible schedule and able to work some day and evening hours
- Experience with public speaking and/or interest in gaining presentation skills
- Ideal candidate is knowledgeable about OPEN services and Northeastern resources

Compensation: $17

If you’re interested in applying or have any questions about the position, please contact Kim Mankus by emailing k.mankus@northeastern.edu.